compensation for the work of art upon delivery.

(c) An art dealer described in subsection (b) is the agent of the artist with respect to a work of art described in subsection (b).

(d) A work of art described in subsection (b) is trust property and the art dealer is trustee for the benefit of the artist until the work of art is sold to a bona fide purchaser or returned to the artist.

(e) Except as provided in subsection (f), this subsection does not apply to a deposit placed by a customer on a work of art. The proceeds of the sale of a work of art described in subsection (b) are trust property. The art dealer is trustee for the benefit of the artist until the amount due the artist from the sale is paid in full. Unless the art dealer and the artist expressly agree otherwise in writing:

- (1) an art dealer shall pay the artist the proceeds of the sale of a work of art not later than thirty (30) days after the art dealer receives the payment; and
- (2) if the sale of the work of art is on installment, the art dealer shall first apply funds from an installment to pay any balance due to the artist on the sale.

The terms of an express written agreement that alters a provision set forth in subdivision (1) or (2) must be clear and conspicuous.

(f) If:

- (1) a customer who has placed a deposit on a work of art purchases the work of art; and
- (2) the customer's deposit is used in whole or in part to pay for the work of art;

the deposit shall be treated in accordance with subsection (e).

(g) Except as provided in subsection (h), if a work of art is lost or damaged while in the possession of an art dealer, the art dealer is strictly liable for the loss or damage in an amount equal to the value of the work of art. For purposes of this subsection, the value of a work of art is as follows:

- (1) If a selling price for the work of art has been established in a written agreement between the artist and the art dealer, the value of the work of art is the selling price established in the agreement. An art dealer who reimburses an artist under this subdivision is not required to pay an amount that exceeds the amount that would have been due to the artist if the work of art had been sold in accordance with the agreement.
- (2) If a selling price for the work of art has not been established in a written agreement between the artist and the art dealer, the value of the work of art is the fair market value of the work of art.

An art dealer who reimburses an artist as the result of loss of or damage to a work of art is not required to pay an amount that exceeds the amount that would have been due the artist if the work of art had been sold in accordance with the agreement.

(h) An art dealer is not liable for the loss of or damage to a work of art in the art dealer's possession if:

- (1) the loss or damage occurs more than thirty (30) days after:
 - (A) the date by which the artist must remove the work of art, as specified in a written agreement between the artist and the art dealer; or
 - (B) the date on which the art dealer sends written notice to the artist by registered mail at the artist's last known address that the artist must remove the work of art, if a written agreement described in clause (A) does not exist; and
- (2) the work of art was in the art dealer's possession at the time of the loss or damage because the artist failed to remove the work of art.

Sec. 11. (a) If a work of art is trust property under section 10 of this chapter when an art dealer initially receives it, the work of art remains trust property until the balance due the artist from the sale of the work of art is paid in full, even if the art dealer directly or indirectly purchases the work of art for the art dealer's own account.

(b) If an art dealer resells a work of art described in subsection (a) to a bona fide purchaser before the artist has been paid in full, the work of art ceases to be trust property and the proceeds of the resale are trust funds in the hands of the art dealer for the benefit of the artist to the extent necessary to pay any balance due the artist. The trusteeship of the proceeds continues until the fiduciary obligation of the art dealer with respect to the transaction is discharged in full.

Sec. 12. Trust property under section 10 or 11 of this chapter is not subject to a claim, lien, or security interest of a creditor of the art dealer.

Sec. 13. (a) An art dealer may accept a work of art for commission on consignment from an artist only if, not later than seven (7) days after accepting the work of art, the art dealer enters into a written contract with the artist that specifies the following:

- (1) The value of the work of art.
- (2) The time within which the proceeds from the sale must be

1 paid to the artist if the work of art is sold.
2 (3) The commission the art dealer is to receive if the work of
3 art is sold.
4 (4) The minimum price for the sale of the work of art.
5 (5) Any discounts ordinarily given by the art dealer in the 6 regular course of business.
7 (b) An art dealer who accepts a work of art for commission on 8 consignment from an artist may:
9 (1) use or display the work of art or a photograph of the work
10 of art; or
11 (2) permit the use or display of the work of art or a
12 photograph of the work of art;
13 only if notice is given to a user or viewer that the work of art is the 14 work of the artist.
15 (c) If an art dealer violates this section, the artist may bring an 16 action in a court with jurisdiction to void the artist's contractual
17 obligations to the art dealer. An art dealer who violates this section 18 is liable to the artist in an amount equal to:
19 (1) fifty dollars ($50);
20 (2) any actual, consequential, or incidental damages sustained
21 by the artist because of the violation of this section; and 22 (3) reasonable attorney's fees.
23 Sec. 14. (a) This section does not apply to an express written
24 agreement under section 10(e) of this chapter altering a provision
25 set forth in section 10(e)(1) or 10(e)(2) of this chapter.
26 (b) The provisions of this chapter may not be waived. Any part
27 of an agreement that purports to waive a provision of this chapter
28 is void.
